Dixie.....In Old Kentucky

Princess.....Alias Jimmy Valentine

ANOTHER good sized audience thoroughly enjoyed the performance of "Love of Mike" at the Hipp last night, which was the last showing of this bill. Tonight, "The Three Twins," another screaming comedy, filled brimful of tinsel numbers and pleasing specialties is billed with complete change of settings, costumes etc. It was in its day, a Broadway success, and on tour played to wonderful business everywhere, and gave general satisfaction. Its revival by March's Musical Merry Makers is strictly in keeping with the policy of the management in rolling back some years and picking carefully productions that had merit, rather than to resort to the common every day material such as they would be forced to accept and play at popular prices. The personnel of the March company is the subject of general favorable comment, all of which is deserved.

Wonderful Attendance at Dixie.

Last night at eight o'clock, the Dixie had them jammed to the side-walks, waiting an opportunity to see "In Old Kentucky." It is an all-week attraction, and thus far has proven a strong puller.

Sunshine Comedy at Nelson.

If you like a good comedy drop in at the Nelson today and take a look at "The Heart Snatcher." Mary Pickford in "Armarilly of Clothes Line Alley" is the other feature.

Unusual Good Crook Play.

Once in a blue moon is a stage play in its original form so well adapted to the screen as "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the celebrated crook drama written by Paul Armstrong and produced by Metro with Bert Lytell as the expert bank robber. The play was the first of a long line of dramas dealing with the underworld that were intended to appeal to the better class of theatre goers and was a notable success in its day. First and foremost, it is drama from start to finish. The story seizes the attention at the very beginning and hangs on to it to the finish. The heroic crook has always been a favorite figure in fiction. In this story the author had wrought so cunningly in his hands that the sympathy of the spectators is never lost. Paul Armstrong is familiar with his characters and attracted their individuality with a finesse that were novel as well as interesting. Also he told a straight story that moves with increasing tension to the big situation and climax of heart throbs.

The screen production has received expert handling. The story does not suffer for elaborate sets and effects, but relies upon its human interest. Correct atmosphere is supplied for every scene and the acting of the cast is all that could be asked. Showing the Princess today.

CLOSE UPS.

Charlotte Ross is progressing in her chosen art. The last time she was here, not a year ago, was with Hunter and Ross, a big organization but, by the way, one of the best that ever played the Hippodrome. It is our guess, that new successes await the clever little lady.

Beth Brand, of Morgantown, who was quite a favorite with Hurley's show last summer, said Mrs. Russell Hendrick of Alexander Place, a short visit this week, and will return later for a more extended visit. She was just recently married to Alvin Levy of Jersey City, a prominent automobile dealer in that city.

Antonio Moreno, Vitaphone star, is taking advantage of odd moments between episodes of his new serial, "The Valled Mystery" to pose for a life size painting which is being made by Ros Mendez, pupil of Strolla, the most famous contemporary artist of Spain.

New Guinea Love Tokens. When a New Guinea woman falls in love with a man she sends a piece of string to his sister, or, if he has no sister, to his mother. Then the lady who receives the string tells the favored man the particular woman is in love with him.

NERVLAX BRINGS
RESTFUL SLEEP
TO GEORGE BELLER

Charleston, W. Va. Man Says He Now Sleeps Like a Baby After Taking Nervlax.

"I have suffered for several years from stomach trouble and was so nervous I could not sleep and hated the sight of a bed," writes George Beller, Charleston, W. Va. "As luck would have it I purchased a bottle of Nervlax and after taking it I feel much better. Now I can scarcely wait until bedtime and enjoy many hours of restful sleep. I get up feeling fine in the morning and have a desire to do my work and do it right. Nervlax is a fine medicine and I heartily recommend it for stomach, kidney, liver and bowel troubles."

GEORGE BELLER, Charleston, W. Va. Nervlax is on sale at Crane's Drug Store.

Sunday Church Services.

Rev. S. J. Satterfield, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, filled his appointment here on Sunday evening. Rev. E. T. Gordon, a ministerial student of Bethany college, occupied the pulpit of the Christian church on Sunday, both morning and evening and will supply again on Sunday, May 30th. Rev. B. E. Hanes who has been pastor for the past two years, will close his pastorate on next Sunday, May 23, and will devote full time to the Mannington Christian church.

Worthington Not in It.

It would seem from the list of election officials as published in the papers in accordance with Chapter 2, Section 25-A of Barnes Code, that Worthington has been taken off the map and that no primary election will be held here. Our honorable county court has considerable power but we were not aware that they could shift the election precincts around in the manner they have. Uncle John Hess used to be a familiar figure on the election boards at Worthington but was later transferred to the Miller school precinct and now it seems that he is again transferred to Thoburn precinct and that precinct is honored with two double boards.

We hope this mix-up will not invalidate the primary of Worthington precinct if one should be held here but so far no official list of election officers has been published and it is too late to do it legally at this time.

Candidates Stirred Up.

The news item Monday entitled "Plenty of Rumors About Politics," has caused considerable anxiety among the Democratic candidates and they are making extra efforts to secure votes and the nomination. So far as this section is concerned Martin, Mabel and Musgrave seem to have a commanding lead. For assessor the race seems to be between Ice and Hanes.
